

COOKIES POLICY

1. Cookies

Cookies are tiny data or text files put on your local computer by websites or applications. As such, cookies can serve different purposes. We thus distinguish between functional cookies (ex: when you choose the language or when you add your purchases to your shopping cart), session cookies (temporary) and cookies for tracking (which analyze and register your behavior patterns on the website in question, in order to offer you an optimal user experience).

The Belgian law of June 13, 2005 relating to electronic communications contains some provisions with regard to cookies and their use on websites. The application of the Belgian law stems from the e-Privacy European Directive which means that the use of cookies and their regulation at the national level varies according to the European country.

Abihome is a company that is active in the Belgian market and therefore follows Belgian legislation on the subject.

2. What is the use of cookies?

Abihome wishes to inform you, as accurately as possible, the rules surrounding the use of cookies and the type of cookies it uses on its site. By using our website, you offer your agreement to the use of cookies. Cookies help Abihome to optimize your visit of its website, to remember your technical choices (like choice of language, a newsletter, etc.) and to suggest to you offers and services more adapted to your needs.

In order to be able to use the website of Abihome it is recommended that you enable cookies. If the cookies are disabled we may not be able to guarantee you a visit of our site without technical problems. However, you are completely free to disable cookies if you so wish.

We use cookies to improve your visit and your use of our website. The cookies that we use are secure. The information that we collect with the help of cookies helps us to identify potential errors found on our website and to offer you specific and customized services that we think might be of interest to you.

3. What type of cookies does Abihome use?
